Chapter 265: The Rise of the Shadow God's Subjects

As Sung Jin-Woo ascended to unprecedented heights of power through the mastery of his hearts' mana-circles, the ripple effects of his growth reverberated across his vast legions. His connection to his subjects—a bond formed through shadows, mana, and divine will—meant that every increase in his strength elevated theirs as well.

1. The Amplification of Power

The augmentation of Sung Jin-Woo's three hearts and their perfected mana-circles exponentially enhanced the capabilities of his subjects.

Baseline Power Increase:
The weakest of his subjects now matched the strength of S^{99}-Rank, an incomprehensible level of might compared to known immortals, whose maximum rank reached only S^{15}.

Elite Power Levels:
The strongest of his forces—Dark Apostles, Shadow Lords, and Dark Heavenly Soldiers—had ascended to S^{99999}-Rank, a level so far beyond comprehension that it bordered on the absolute.

2. The Bond Between Sung Jin-Woo and His Subjects

Sung Jin-Woo's unique connection to his legions ensured their collective growth:

Unified Power Network:
Every subject, from the smallest shadow soldier to the mightiest Dark Apostle, was bound to Sung Jin-Woo's essence. As his power grew, so did theirs.

Symbiotic Empowerment:
This connection was not one-sided. The collective strength of his subjects also acted as a stabilizing force for Sung Jin-Woo's power, amplifying his reach and influence across the multiverse.

3. The Shadow Lords

The Shadow Lords, materialized from the essence of Sung Jin-Woo's shadow, were among his most formidable warriors:

Ranks: Now classified at S^{99999}-Rank, their strength could obliterate entire realms.

Abilities: Wielded reality-warping powers, shadow manipulation, and unparalleled combat skills, making them unstoppable in battle.

---

4. The Dark Apostles

The Dark Apostles, born from primordial darkness, were Sung Jin-Woo's masters of stealth and shadow warfare:

Ranks: Elevated to S^{99999}-Rank, their stealth abilities allowed them to bypass even the most impenetrable defenses.

Role: Experts in sabotage, espionage, and assassinations, ensuring the Divine Triad's dominance remained unchallenged.

5. The Dark Heavenly Soldiers

The Dark Heavenly Soldiers, born from the divine union of light and darkness, formed the backbone of Sung Jin-Woo's infinite army:

Ranks: The most powerful among them reached S^{99999}-Rank, capable of annihilating galaxies with a single strike.

Numbers: Their sheer number, in the centillions, made them an unstoppable force that could overwhelm any opposition.

6. The Shadowkins and Shadow Soldiers

Even the most basic of Sung Jin-Woo's creations, the Shadowkins and Shadow Soldiers, experienced tremendous growth:

Ranks: Now at least S^{99}-Rank, they far outclassed any known immortal in strength and capability.

Abilities: Retained their loyalty, discipline, and versatility, allowing them to fulfill diverse roles in Sung Jin-Woo's multiversal campaigns.

7. The Unchallenged Dominance of Sung Jin-Woo

Sung Jin-Woo's ascendancy solidified his position as the Shadow God, a being far beyond any concept of immortality or divinity.

Unrivaled Army: His forces were not only vast in number but also unmatched in power, with every member embodying a fragment of Sung Jin-Woo's divine might.

Ever-Increasing Potential: As Sung Jin-Woo continued to grow, so would his legions, ensuring an infinite cycle of strength and supremacy.

8. The Multiverse’s Response

The sudden surge in power among Sung Jin-Woo’s forces did not go unnoticed. Across the multiverse, fear and awe spread as the extent of his might became evident. No being, realm, or faction dared to challenge the Divine Triad, knowing that doing so would mean facing not only Sung Jin-Woo but also his centillions-strong army of S^{99} to S^{99999}-Rank warriors.

The age of the Shadow God had truly begun, and the multiverse trembled under the weight of his shadow.
